1. INTRODUCTION

1.1. COMPANY BACKGROUND

Based in Washington, D.C., ACIDI/VOCA is a nonprofit international development organization that delivers technical and management assistance in agribusiness, financial services, enterprise development, community development, and food security to promote broad-based economic growth and vibrant civil society.

1.2. PROGRAM BACKGROUND

The USAID-Resilience Learning Activity (RLA) is an activity under the Feed the Future Kenya Livestock Market Systems Leader with Associates award, led by ACIDI/VOCA. At the regional level, the activity supports USAID's investments in the Horn of Africa Resilience Network (HoRN), including Kenya, Somalia, Ethiopia, South Sudan, Uganda, and the Democratic Republic of Congo. The RLA program utilizes the information collected through our support initiatives to improve the design and implementation of resilience activities in the Partnership for Resilience and Economic Growth (PREG), Southeastern Kenya (SEK), the Horn of Africa Network (HoRN), and the Somalia Resilience Partnership (SRP). Using USAID collaborating, learning, and adapting (CLA) principles our program activities are responsive to the following four objectives:

- Objective 1: Strengthen analytics and analytic capacity for local and host country organizations
- Objective 2: Facilitate learning for adaptive management by local and host country organizations
- Objective 3: Improve knowledge management and strategic communication for local and host country organizations
- Objective 4: Establish and strengthen systems and networks using USAID CLA principles.

2. PURPOSE

The purpose of this RFP is to seek for Organizations, Firms to Coordinate and host a USAID investment Fair in Turkana County as per the Scope of work and deliverables highlighted in the next sections of this RFP

COORDINATION AND HOSTING TURKANA COUNTY INVESTMENT FAIR

Under objective three of the RLA Activity, “Improve knowledge management and strategic communication for local and host country organizations,” RLA is supporting communities, governments, and research institutions to generate learning and package knowledge and information relevant to resilience in forms that are accessible, practical, and applicable for decision-making. Cognizant of the critical role that knowledge management and strategic communications play in strengthening governance and supporting effective resilience programming, RLA is supporting County Governments to strengthen their Resilience Capacities through Knowledge Management and Communications Practices.

Over the last three years, RLA has made significant progress in engaging County governments, training and capacity-building their Communications teams, and supporting the local media outlets to be effective in working with local communities and county governments. RLA would like to advance its interventions in Turkana County with key stakeholders.

2.1. SCOPE OF WORK

Activity Description: Enhancing community learning to increase their adaptive capacity to shocks and stresses through the USAID Turkana County Investment Fair

A County Investment Fair is an event in which people come together to learn and to share based on their experiences. The guiding principle is that all of us have something to learn and that all of us have something to share. There are no experts. The fairs are knowledge-sharing mechanisms whose structure and format can be adapted according to any subject and any set of goals. Fairs are events to assemble, where actors and experiences congregate in a defined space and moment to exchange knowledge.

Objectives

1. To disseminate the lessons learned and good practices and information products developed by stakeholders to the community to enhance sustainability and impact.
2. Publicly celebrate successful experiences that contribute to human development. The knowledge fair will help to spot, map, learn, disseminate, and systematize unidentified experiences around a specific subject. The fair will also contribute to consolidating and providing continuity to successful experiences through the recognition of its projects, programs, or policies.
3. Promote knowledge transfer between people and organizations making emphasis in “the how”, or the processes that made it possible to achieve sustainable goals. In other words, transfer successful social technologies.
4. Influence the public agenda and the formulation of public policies. Due to their visibility, their capacity to mobilize important development actors, and their ability to attract the media and public attention, fairs can become spaces to position key human development topics on the public agenda.

What the Execution will look like

The fair will be held alongside main plenary learning sessions with a themed agenda led by key speakers. Participants in the fair will showcase experiences through several types of presentations: publications, audio-visual applications, demonstrations, storytelling to share and promote meaningful best practices relevant to the prioritized needs of local communities in Turkana. The firm will oversee and guide the implementation process. This will include among other roles-publicize the fair widely, involving all the relevant stakeholders in planning, execution, and monitoring, get common displays for booths to convey an image of diversity with integration.

Specific subjects by the exhibitors may include how to:

- Promote collaboration in the areas of education, water, hygiene and sanitation, health, agriculture, livelihoods, and nutrition among others.
- Demonstrate best practices of successful interventions at the County level.
- Explore the innovations in community resilience.
